Without This, Mission Aviation Will Die!

What am I talking about?
• Finances?
• Aeroplanes/helicopters?

No. I’m talking about TRAINING

Training men and women for this strategic ministry.

The most critical need in mission aviation is PEOPLE.

Trained people – aircraft engineers and pilots with a passion for mission and the transforming power of the Gospel. This is a primary reason why we are conducting an Open Day this year on September 8.

HOW CAN YOU HELP?
• By actively encouraging people to consider training for mission aviation.
• By praying that the Lord will lead many more into this ministry
• By financially supporting mission aviation training

ACMA’S GOALS FOR 2013
• 10 new Engineering students
• 10 new Flight students

Awesome Mission Aviation Camp!

Thank you for praying for the Mission Aviation Camp in July! It was awesome in the true sense of that word.
• 33 campers, from Vic, QLD, ACT, NSW, SA and 2 from Fiji.
• High impact. Campers were challenged.

“Had awesome fun and made new friends. I’d recommend anyone to do this.”
“Had an awesome time. I’ll never be the same again. You guys started to change my life.”

ACMA OPEN DAY 2012

This year, ACMA will be conducting an OPEN DAY on September 8.

The format will be different from previous MAD days, and targets two specific groups:
• People interested in TRAINING for mission aviation
• People interested in mission aviation generally

Time: 10am to 2pm
Mission Aviation Centre, Coldstream Airfield
96 Killara Road Coldstream
Aircraft Engineering Displays, Joy Flights, Flight Simulator, Mission Aviation Seminars

For more details, see the enclosed brochure.
Funding Opportunities at ACMA
